Grant Program

For more than 100 years, AAA has been an active participant in the communities we call home. AAA believes the center of these communities is the education system and, now more than ever, schools are struggling due to dwindling resources. As a not-for-profit corporation, AAA understands how important funding is for fueling growth. To help fill the gap, AAA has partnered with Dell to offer a computer grant program, called Driving Success, to assist teachers and increase learning in their classrooms. The program will provide educators with a tool to engage their students through the power of technology.
